1. On April 16th, test the link below. You will see a pre-flight screen with a Qwikcast Help (lower left) to see if your computer is ready to view the conference. Click on Qwikcast Help and it will walk you through the specs and sample. (You will need Windows Media Player and it is available to download from the help section if needed.)

(If you test this prior to April 16th, you should see the following message: We're sorry, but the QwikCast you have requested is currently not available for viewing.)
